

OBITUARY

1860 Census: Daniel Doolittle, Carpenter, age 42; Saphrona, age 40; Mary Jo, age 20; August, age 17; William H., age 12;

IMPORTANT CHANGES.—Mr. Jos. know it H. West has sold his book, news The and stationery business to J. R. (the the pre Postmaster) and Homer Potter. It rebel e is expected that the whole concern Northe
 Postoffice and all, will be moved It is re into the Vanhise store, shortly. . . . would Mr. John West has sold (or excha- hate, ged) his house and lot, to Mr. Dan'l mortifi Doolittle, for his farm, some two impel miles out of town, so Mr. Doolittle er cha is a citizen of town again. . . . Evans- our na ville Clothing Store is selling out— this di in quantities to suit purchasars. . . . spare
 Also Smith & Eager—by the galon and yard. A v
 of th

October 9, 1872, Evansville

Review, p. 1, col. 3, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mr. Daniel Doolittle has been confined to his house for several weeks from fever, but is improving and will be about soon.

August 26, 1874, Evansville Review, p. 1, col. 3, Evansville, Wisconsin

DANIEL DOOLITTLE,

Church St. near Sem.,
 Maker of Odd size Doors, Sash, All size Win dom Blinds, and all other work usually done in Joiner's Shop.
 EVANSVILLE, Wis. Dec. 1st, 1874.

Advertisement in Evansville Journal December 15, 1874, Evansville, Wisconsin

Carpenters listed in list of Evansville businesses: D. Doolittle. Mr. Walker. A Munger. December 15, 1874, Evansville Journal, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mrs. Sophronia C. Doolittle, wife of Daniel Doolittle, Esq., died at her home after a lengthy sickness on the evening of July 3d, 1877, aged 57 years.

Mrs. Doolittle's complaint was dropsy of the heart. Although it was apparent to herself and her family that she could not expect to recover, yet her complaint presented flattering hopes at times that she might. A few weeks previous she rode out, and had been able to walk about the house, yet she was feeble, and it was well known that her demise was only a question of time.

She was a worthy and acceptable member of the Methodist church, with which she had been connected some twenty-six years.

She has always borne the character of a christian woman, and always had friends wherever she had acquaintances, who now mourn her departure. She was kind to all, and bore her sufferings with christian grace and fortitude.

Se was buried from the Methodist church. Rev. J. D. Cole preached the funeral discourse.

Her coffin was beautifully festooned with wreathes, on the lid of which were two ample crosses, made from flowers and vines by the ladies Andrews and West. The silver plate bore the inscription, beautifully engraved in Old English by Dr. Beebe,

SOPHRONIA C. DOOLITTLE
Age 57 YEARS
DIED JULY 3d, 1877

July 11, 1877, p. 3, col. 3, Evansville Review, Evansville, Wisconsin

The Citizen-Review.	MARRIED.
WEDNESDAY, OCT. 31, 1877.	DOOLITTLE—JONES. —At the Methodist parsonage, Sunday afternoon, Oct. 28th, 1877, by Rev. C. E. Goldthorp, Clarence S. Doolittle of Magnolia, to Jennie Jones, of Center. Rock Co., Wis.
HOME AND OTHER ITEMS.

October 31, 1877, Evansville Review, p. 3, col. 3, Evansville, Wisconsin

Rev. Milton Rowley has purchased the Doolittle house, but will allow Mr. Griswold to remain in it for the period to which rent is paid—October next.

November 7, 1877, Evansville Review, p. 3, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

...ago Thursday.
—Mr. Daniel Doolittle has disposed of his carpenter shop and will take himself to Union Grove to reside with his daughter, Mrs. S. S. Gard, also the home of his youngest daughter, Jessie. Mr. Doolittle is looking poorly. Sorry to lose him.

November 28, 1877, Evansville Review, p. 3, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

Death of Mr. Daniel Doolittle

Mr. Daniel Doolittle died at Union Grove, Racine county, at 8 o'clock, Friday morning, September 20th, 1878, aged 60 years.

Mr. Doolittle moved from Cayahoga county, Ohio, in 1851, and settled in Evansville, where he resided until within about a year previous to his death. His business was mainly that of a house carpenter. About fourteen months ago, his wife, who had been in poor health, died, when he went to live in Mr. Homer Potter's family, and continued his business as health would permit of doing. For a short time, this spring, he spent with his niece at Lime Springs, Iowa, but returned and took up his home with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Gard, of Union Grove, and where he remained until his death.

His remains were brought here by the Friday night train, accompanied by his son-in-law and daughter, and were followed to the grave by many of his old friends, and relatives in this place. From his wasted condition, it was necessary to make a speedy interment as possible, and consequently, funeral was deferred until Sunday morning.

He had living here, one brother, Mr. Joseph Doolittle of Magnolia, and a number of nieces and nephews of other branches of his family. His only son died at Austin, Minn. some five weeks ago, only two daughters survive him, Mrs. Guard, and his youngest, Jessee.

Mr. Doolittle was unquestionably a christian man, and died in the fullness of hope hereafter. He was honest and upright in all of his dealings, and probably had as few enemies as any man among us. He was kind to all, and possessed a heart ever ready to yield to the wants of the destitute and distressed.

Long will his memory continue fresh in the hearts of his friends and fellow citizens here.

September 25, 1878, The Review, p. 3, col. 3, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mr. J. E. Doolittle terminated his four and a half years as financial clerk in the Grange store on Saturday night. He goes back to his farm to enjoy sweet repose by an honest tillage of the soil. We are sorry to lose such an excellent neighbor from our community.

April 13, 1881, Evansville Review, p. 3, col. 3, Evansville, Wisconsin

Miss Jessie Doolittle, daughter of the late Daniel Doolittle, of Anamosa, Iowa, is visiting Mr. Potter's family.

October 12, 1881, Evansville Review, p. 3, col. 2

Old Uncle Joseph Doolittle, one of the oldest and most respected residents of the town of Magnolia, died last Monday night. The funeral was held at his late home the following Wednesday.

July 7, 1885, Enterprise, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mr. W. H. Doolittle has received the nomination of superintendent of schools, by the Prohibition party, for the 1st, district, Rock County.

October 17, 1884, Evansville Review, p. 3, col. 3, Evansville, Wisconsin

At the official meeting Wednesday night, W. H. Doolittle was elected treasurer of M. E. Church.

October 17, 1884, Evansville Review, p.3, col. 3, Evansville, Wisconsin

Old Uncle Joseph Doolittle, one of the oldest and most respected residents of the town of Magnolia, died last Monday night. The funeral was held at his late home the following Wednesday.

July 1885, n.d. no paper

Curry, of this place.

A PIONEER GONE.

Mr. Joseph Doolittle died at his home in Magnolia, Rock Co., at half past eight o'clock, on Monday night, July 20, 1885, of heart disease, superinduced by old age, at the advanced age of eighty years on the 14th day of February last. Mr. Doolittle came to Magnolia from Ohio, in 1849, and where he lived up to the time of his death. He was a man of broad christian views, stern in moral rectitude, and found always battling for God and right. His education and moral integrity fitted him for almost any public position in the gift of the people. He had repeatedly served his town as Chairman of the Board of Supervisors, as Justice of the Peace, and other offices and positions where he was often called to officiate.

His family had grown to maturity, and mainly settled about him, his second son, Mr. H. E. Doolittle, having been his watchful attendant since it became known that he could not long survive, and was present at his death. Other members of his family were early notified of his death, and were present at his funeral which was held at his house Wednesday. Sermon by Rev. Henry Sewell, of this place. His eldest son, Mr. Newton Doolittle, living in Minnesota, was telegraphed to, and arrived Tuesday night.

Mr. Doolittle married a second wife a few years ago, and who survives him. Thus the days of a good man have fled.

soon as
—T
day n morul arm.
weari might ing, h ing in
—A Board
"lock neate
The
was i port of oc
pres and keep
—
nice Bl
—
Bre
ligh
day
—
las ing urc
da
—
wi he

July 24, 1885, Evansville Review, p. 3,

col. 3, Evansville, Wisconsin

Hop Doolittle has charge of the clothing department at the Grange Store.
April 7, 1886, The Enterprise, Evansville, Wisconsin

WEEK.

M. E. Church Matters.

At the quarterly conference of the M. E. church, held Thursday morning, Aug. 4th, 1887, the officers and committees were elected for the ensuing year as follows:

TRUSTEES

L. T. Pullen, C. A. Pratt, J. R. West, A. Eager, Clint. W. Moore, W. W. Garfield, B. F. Emery, I. A. Hoxie, John Lemmell.

STEWARDS,

W. H. Slightam, J. Boyd Jones, Wm. Campbell, C. M. Clifford, W. S. Smith, C. B. Morse, W. H. Doolittle, C. F. P. Pullen, T. F. Stair, W. J. Knights, H. VanPatten John Baum.

RECORDING STEWARDS.—W. H. Doolittle.

DISTRICT STEWARD.—W. H. Doolittle.

ALTERNATE DIS. STEWARD.—L. T. Pullen.

COMMITTEES

On Parsonage and Furniture.—Mrs. Homer Potter, Mrs. Dr. T. F. Stair.

COM. ON MUSIC.—C. F. P. Pullen, Mrs. C. F. P. Pullen, Mrs. John Budlong.

COM. ON PREACHER'S SALARY.—L. T. Pullen, C. B. Morse, W. H. Doolittle.

August 5, 1887, Evansville Review, p. 1, col. 3,

Evansville, Wisconsin

Chas Doolittle has returned from his western trip.

September 1, 1888, the Tribune, p. 1, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

RESOLUTIONS.

WHEREAS. Our Heavenly Father in His love and care for His children has taken from us our beloved friend and associate, Sadie J. Doolittle, and

Whereas. Her life has been for many years so closely woven into the life of our church and Sunday School, and

Whereas, As Assisatand Superintendent and Treasurer of our Sunday School, her going from us has left a void impossible to fill, therefore be it

Resolved, That we as a Sunday School express our appreciation of the sterling qualities that made her so efficient in Sunday School work, and her presence an inspiration for good. therefore be it

Resolved, That we extend our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved husband, mother and family, therefore be it

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family and another copy be placed upon the minutes of our Sunday School and also be published in the local papers.

E. S. DAVIS,
M. L. ANTES,
A. J. MCFARLANE. } Com.

August 31, 1894, Enterprise, p. 1, col. 4, Evansville,

Wisconsin

RESOLUTIONS.

Resolutions of Columbia Chapter No. 29, O. E. S., Evansville, Wis., Aug. 28, 1894.

WHEREAS, In the death of our sister Mrs. Sadie Doolittle, Columbian Chapter No. 29, O. E. S. has suffered the loss of one of its most efficient and highly valued members, one ever ready with word and deed to promote the welfare of the order, and to aid by both precept and example in upholding and strengthening the golden chain of fraternal fellowship and good will.

Whereas, As she was faithful to the convictions of right. As she was obedient to the demands of justice, as she loved kindred and friends and as she lived in the spirit of charity and the love of truth, so shall be her reward.

Whereas, We shall miss her in our work and in our social recreations, and while we mourn sincerely her untimely death. We remember that upon the family of our deceased sister, the sudden bereavement must fall with heavier woe, therefore be it

Resolved, That we hereby extend our heartfelt sympathy to them in this their hour of sorrow. Let your lonely hearts be comforted with the blessed assurance that it is well with her that she is resting in peace.

Our sister has finished her allotted task in the conflict of life. The chapter of her earthly sojourn is closed, but her many virtues shall not go unrecorded, therefore be it

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be presented to the family of the deceased, one to each of the Village papers for publication, and that they be recorded in the journal of our Chapter.

MRS. HATTIE BOYD,
MRS. KITTIE ELLIS,
MRS. IDA SMITH. } Com.

Mrs Doolittle's Funeral.

Was one of the largest ever held in this city, it was estimated that at least five hundred people were in attendance the line of carriages to and from the cemetery were nearly a mile long.

Rev. J. S. Davis, resident pastor of the M. E. Church spoke and he spoke well, for he had a good subject to talk about, one that he could not say to

August 31, 1894, Enterprise, p.1 , col. 3, Evansville, Wisconsin

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Doolittle, Saturday, Oct. 1, 1898, a daughter.

October 6, 1898, Evansville Review, Evansville, Wisconsin

GO BLUE DEVILS! Fans were shouting the same thing when this team—the Evansville high school squad of 1890—took the field. The picture belongs to Bill Hamilton, front row, right, who was prompted to bring the picture to the Review after seeing a picture of the football squad of '95 published last fall. For the benefit of Evansville's old-timers, especially, members of the '90 squad were, left to right, sitting on floor, Ray Doolittle, Herb Van Patten, Harvey Walton and Hamilton. Behind them: Bert Snashall, Floyd West, George Wilder, Earl Mihills, captain, Jack Stair, Billy Stevens and L. E. Gettel, professor. Note the round football, which the players were not allowed to touch with their hands.

April 26, 1956, Evansville Review, p. 1, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mr. C. J. Doolittle has moved into the Bevier house on Park Street, recently vacated by Mr. Jas. Osborne.

June 30, 1893, The Enterprise, p. 1, col. 1, Evansville, Wisconsin

W. H. Doolittle having made a trip to his farm in Minnesota, to see how his pullets were coming in, returned Saturday. He says he has lost some flesh but has gained in muscle.

October 3, 1893, Evansville Review, p. 1, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

Rev. Noble Palmer of Randolph N. Y. arrived on Friday last to spend a few days with his daughter, Mrs. C. J. Doolittle. He expects to leave soon for St. Paul, where he will make an extended visit with his son.

March 29, 1894, The Evansville Review, p. 1, col. 4, Evansville, Wisconsin

This community was greatly surprised and shocked this morning upon learning of the death of Mrs. Sadie Doolittle of this place, wife of W. H. Doolittle, which occurred at the new Sanitarium of Dr. Sutherland in Janesville last evening about 5 o'clock. She went to the above named Sanitarium on Tuesday last accompanied by Doctors Ewing and Stevens of this place, the latter to care for her in the most skilled manner during her sickness, following the operation of removing a large tumor, which was performed on the same day by Dr. Holbrook an expert of Chicago, assisted by Dr. Sutherland. She recovered from the operation nicely and was supposed to be getting along as well as could be expected up to 4 o'clock p.m. Thursday when she commenced to gradually sink and grow worse, passing away about 8 o'clock of the same evening. Mr. Doolittle was at once telegraphed the condition of his wife when it was considered that she was in a dangerous one and the doctors as well as all others are greatly surprised and shocked at the result. The deceased would have been 35 years old had she lived until October. Was born in Dayton, Green County, Wis. Taught school fifteen terms. Clerked five years for the Evansville Mercantile Association, was married on September 5th 1892. A member of the M. E. Church for years and several other prominent societies. A very highly respected and useful woman in every respect who will be greatly missed by this entire community. She leaves a kind indulgent husband, in this his second widow-hood, a mother and one brother all of whom have our deepest sympathy. Funeral at the house. Sunday at 2 o'clock p.m. at the M. E. church at 2:30 o'clock p.m.

The Funeral

Was one of the largest ever held in this city, it was estimated that at least five hundred people were in attendance the line of carriages to and from the cemetery was nearly a mile long.

Rev. J. S. Davis, resident pastor of the M. E. Church spoke and he spoke well, for he had a good subject to talk about, one that he could not say too much in favor of. His principal theme was the standard value of the woman who had gone to her last reward, which must be great if any; he said she was not a gushing woman, but one of standard, true, honesty and integrity who done all in her power to fill every position which she was called to in life well, which gave her a standard value in society and in every position which she was called to fill; he spoke of her long service for the Evansville Mercantile Association, where she formed a wide acquaintance of friends and became of great value to the institution, not that she urged people to buy, but by her unquestionable honor and integrity she gained friends and customers, who had full confidence in her word alone and not only in this position in life did she do her duty faithfully and well but in her school teaching, in church, in Sunday School, in the numerous positions of trust in the several good societys of which she was a member, all were given her best thought, action and effort, these things were true and every hearer knew it, therefore Mr. Davis was listened to with intense interest in his discourse, which was brief, but effective. The floral offerings were great in number and various beautiful designs. The remains looked very natural, showing but little of the suffering or agonies of death, calm and peaceful seemed the repose with almost a lifelike complextion, there was none of the usual marble whiteness, but the rapid falling away in flesh for a few days of her last sickness was all the change that would be noticed by most intimate friends, as she lay in a handsome white casket surrounded with the handsome floral designs of beautiful roses and evergreens. The grave was beautifully lined, and many was the sad tear of parting that fell therein as friends lingered long seemingly very loath to say the last farewell.

August 28, 1894, The Tribune, p. 4, col. 3, Evansville, Wisconsin

The official members of the A. L. church for 1894 and '95 are as follows:	74 y
F. A. Pease, presiding elder; J. Scott Davis, pastor.	this here
Trustees: I. A. Hoxie, J. P. Porter, A. Eager, W. W. Garfield, W. W. Young, J. S. Conrad, L. T. Pullen, G. H. Reed and D. F. Stevens.	He ing leav first side
Stewards: W. H. Doolittle, T. F. Stair, F. A. Franklin, B. F. Emery, C. Conine, John Lemmel, W. B. Campbell, Mrs. W. B. Campbell, Carrie Porter, T. F. Shurrum, I. D. Clifford, G. H. Austin and O. Shepard.	Geo Mr. mar his to t
District steward: G. H. Austin.	trus at
Recording steward: W. H. Doolittle.	o'cl
Treasurer: W. H. Doolittle.	T
Sunday school superintendent: H. L. Austin.	alre
On music: J. B. Beebe, H. L. Austin, Gertie Eager.	two goo her
On janitor: C. Conine, John Lemmel, G. H. Austin.	her sect
Benevolences: Lizzie Antes, Nellie Gillis, Mary Clency, Gertie Campbell.	fail. He
Church records: H. Potter, W. B. Campbell.	He be
Estimating pastors salary: H. Potter, C. Conine, W. H. Doolittle.	stit tor
Parsonage and furniture: Mrs. H. Potter, Mrs. A. Eager, Mrs. D. Stevens.	mu is i Re

October 13, 1894, The Badger, p 3, col.

1, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mr. Ray Doolittle came down from college the day before Thanksgiving and spent the holiday here with his parents.

November 30, 1895, The Badger, p. 1, col. 3, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mrs. Grant Doolittle and son Wesley of Madison are spending a fortnight at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Doolittle.

Saturday, July 10, 1897, The Badger, p. 1, col. 3, Evansville, Wisconsin

W. H. Doolittle, Edward Cadwallader and their wives spent Tuesday with friends in Brodhead.

August 5, 1897, Evansville Review, p.1 , col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

Max Fisher has purchased the W. H. Doolittle residence on Second Street and will take possession about Oct. 10th.

September 20, 1899, Evansville Review, p. ? col. 1, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mr. W. H. Doolittle has sold his residence to M. J. Fisher for his son Max. Consideration $1,500.

September 23, 1899, p. 6, The Badger, Vol. V No. 38, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mrs. C. J. Doolittle and son, Noble, returned Tuesday from an extended visit to relatives at Elkhorn.

June 30, 1900, The Badger, p. 1, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

by Feb. 2 1901

mes in endidd $2500
lips.
harity night mith's ll fury and hog nd six veath-

St. John's church was filled to its doors Thursday evening, the occasion being the visitation of Bishop Nicholson. There was a class of six confirmed, Mrs. Stacia Titus, Mrs. Addie Hamilton, Miss Winnie Wolfe, Noble Doolittle, Ernest Bazley and Lloyd Hollister. The Bishop was assisted in the services by Reverends Barrington, Ritchie and Wilson. After the service there was a reception at the home of Dr. J. M. Evans.

The Badger

The remains of Mrs. S. S. Gard of Detroit were brought here for burial last Saturday. Mrs. Gard will be remembered as the daughter of Daniel Doolittle, a pioneer of this vicinity. She leaves a husband, son and sister to mourn her loss.

April 6, 1901, the Badger, p. 1, col. 3, Evansville, Wisconsin

Chas. D. Doolittle has a position in a gent's furnishing store at Waukegan, Ill. Mrs. Doolittle expects to join him soon.

April 6, 1901, The Badger, p. 1, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

C. J. Doolittle was in our city Thursday. His family is located for the present at Lake City, Minn. Where his parents and brother Henry live.

The Badger, p. 1, col. 3, November 2, 1901, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mr. Chas. Doolittle and family will soon return to this city, and Mr. Doolittle will resume his former position in the Grange clothing store, which Mr. Truax has filled with the best of satisfaction of late, but prefers to go into the clothing business for himself in Sharon. Although we shall all regret the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Truax, we shall be pleased to have Mr. Doolittle had his family return.

January 21, 1902, The Tribune, p. 1, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mrs. W. H. Doolittle returned to her home in Minnesota last Sunday evening accompanied by Mrs. Ed. Cadwallader.

May 16, 1903, The Badger, p. 1., col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

Thursday morning, Mr. Homer Potter received a dispatch announcing the death of Mrs. Jessie Doolittle Gard of Wyandotte, Michigan. The funeral party will arrive in this city today at noon, and interment will follow immediately. The deceased was the last surviving member of the Daniel Doolittle family widely known and highly respected in the early days of this city.

December 24, 1904, The Badger, p. 1, col. 4, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mrs. Mygatt has had H. Skarning and his crew of painters at work the past week putting a new coat of paint on her Main Street residence and the house adjoining, occupied by Charley Doolittle and family.

May 10, 1910, Enterprise & Tribune, p. 1, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

A ih
re
-
t.
—Little Charlene Doolittle underwent an operation Sunday morning for the removal of her tonsils and adenoids from her throat. Dr. Smith performed the operation, assisted by Dr. Dennison, and the little girl is getting along nicely.

Prof. Ben Broughton's loc
May 25, 1910, Enterprise & Tribune, p. 1, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin
Obituary

Kate Donaldson was born in Orange County, New York, April 27, 1842, and died at her home in Brodhead July 4, 1914, after a lingering illness, aged 72 years, 2 months and 7 days.

With her parents and brother and sister she came to Wisconsin in 1850 settling upon a farm in the town of Center, Rock County, thus being among the pioneers. The death of her father about a year later placed the burden of rearing the family upon the mother and thus were the responsibilities of life early realized by the deceased. She received her education in the common schools and later attended the Seminary at Evansville after which she taught school for some years.

On January 1, 1867, she was united in marriage to John Emery Doolittle, who during the war of the Rebellion was in the employ of the government as carpenter and bridge builder, but not enlisted.

To this union seven children were born, one of whom, Katie Maude died in infancy.

For some ten years they following farming, then moved to Evansville where Mr. Doolittle became financially interested in the Grange Store and was also one of the officers of the organization. They spent four years in that city at the end of which time they moved back onto the farm. About this time a movement was made to establish a Grange Store in Brodhead and Mr. Doolittle's assistance was sought. He came to Brodhead and assisted in the organization and was made its manager, leaving his family to conduct the farm for nearly two seasons. They then, in 1881, moved to Brodhead which place has since been Mrs. Doolittle's home.

She joined the Methodist Episcopal church at an early age and ever remained firm in the faith and true to the teaching of her church.

Three years ago her health became somewhat impaired. Since that time there has been a steady decline until it was necessary for her to take to her bed. Gradually her condition became worse and the end came as above stated.

She leaves to mourn her death a brother, Samuel Donaldson of Shubert, Neb.; four sons and two daughters, C. E. Doolittle of Stoughton, S. W. Doolittle of Lancaster, M. H. Doolittle of Vale, Oregon, Mrs. G. E. Dixon of Brodhead, Mrs. L. D. Beckwith of Santa Margarita, California and J. C. Doolittle of Lancaster, also a step-sister, Mrs. Will Worthing of Cainville, a step-brother Joseph Patchen of Winnebago, Minn., besides many other relatives and friends.

Funeral services were held on Monday afternoon at half past one o'clock, July 6, at the Dixon home, conducted by Rev. A. Dinsdale, the singing being by Mrs. Frank Dedrick with Mrs. A. Pierce accompanist.

July 16, 1914, Evansville Review, p. 8, cols. 1 & 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

A number of girls of the Congregational church met at the home of Mrs. Grabill, Tuesday afternoon, and organized for the purpose of taking up the study of missions. Miss Mildred Cain was elected president; Miss Dorothy Axtell as vice president; Miss Dorothy Hansen as secretary; Miss Beth Weaver as treasurer; Miss Charlene Doolittle as organist. The name for the new organization will be chosen at the next regular meeting of the club.

January 21, 1915, The Evansville Review, p. 5, col. 1, Evansville,
Wisconsin

MILLINERY OPENING

All This Week

All new stock and styles, just from Chicago selected and purchased by myself.

These new creations of the best milliners can be seen at my home on Montgomery Court.

Mrs. Charles Doolittle

September 1, 1921, Evansville Review, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mrs. Geo. Kliefoth, formerly Miss Charlene Doolittle of this city now of Bloomington Ill., underwent an operation Monday at the hospital in that city having her tonsils and turbenal bone removed. She is improving rapidly.

March 6, 1924, Evansville Review, p. 5, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mrs. Chas. Doolittle and mother, Mrs. Austin, leave next Tuesday for Moline, Ill., where they will visit at the Acheson home. Mrs. Austin will remain there over the winter and Mrs. Doolittle will go from there to Bloomington, Ill., where she will visit her daughter, Mrs. Geo. Kliefoth for a week.

October 30, 1924, Evansville Review, p. 5, col. 3, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mrs. Charles Doolittle left Wednesday morning for Bloomington, Ill. to visit her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Kliefoth.

January 28, 1926, Evansville Review, p. 5, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

FOR RENT: Private garage on Montgomery court conveniently located to the business section of the city. $2.50 per month. Inquire of Mrs. C. D. Doolittle, 25 North
Madison street. Telephone 287-J.
2-2-2tDH

February 9, 1933, Evansville Review,
Evansville, Wisconsin

FORMER LOCAL MAN DIES IN LANCASTER

Dr. J. C. Doolittle Answers Final
Call Sunday Morning; Victim
Of Heart Attack

Dr. J. C. Doolittle, 52, Lancaster, a former Evansville resident and cousin of Charles D. Doolittle, 25 North Madison street, this city, died suddenly Sunday morning following a heart attack. He had been troubled with arthritis for sometime but was not seriously ill.

Funeral services were held at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday in the home with burial in the Lancaster cemetery. Those from this locality attending were Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Doolittle, this city, and Mrs. Claude Doolittle and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Severson, Stoughton.

Dr. Doolittle, a son of the late Emery and Kate Doolittle, was born in Brodhead and resided in Evansville with his parents for a number of years during which time his father was associated with the Grange store. At the time of his death Dr. Doolittle was at the head of a hospital in Lancaster.

Besides his wife, he is survived by two children; two sisters, Mrs. George Dixon, Brodhead, and another sister in California; and one brother, Dr. S. W. Doolittle, Lancaster. Two brothers, Mark of the state of Washington, and Claude of Stoughton have died during the last year.

May 24, 1934, Evansville Review,

MRS. LINA DOOLITTLE
89, DIES IN HOSPITAL

Mrs. Lina Doolittle, 89, Janesville former Evansville resident, died Sunday in a Janesville hospital after a long illness.

The former Lina Austine was born in Utica, N.Y., and was married to Charles Doolittle in 1893 in Evansville. Her husband died in 1934. She was a member of the Golden Age Club of Janesville.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. George C. Kliefoth, Janesville; one grandson; and three great-grandchildren.

The funeral was at 1:30 pm. Wednesday in the Overton funeral home.

December 2, 1965, Evansville Review, Evansville,

Wisconsin