

—Dr. John Morgan, of Frankville, Iowa, was in town a few days last week. His return was an annual visit to “the scenes of his early youth” and perhaps something else.

January 4, 1871, Evansville Review, p. 1, col. 3, Evansville, Wisconsin

An infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Morgan died very suddenly, Friday of last week.

July 29, 1882, Evansville Review, p. 3, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

Wm. Morgan is building James Hoskin’s new house and putting the finishing touches on W. H. H. Johnson’s large dwelling.

July 3, 1883, Enterprise

Mr. S. Hunt has sold the following lots, since laying them out this spring: to Wm. S. Morgan, lot 37, $250; to Mr. Hildreth, lot 36, $200; to Wm. Patterson one lot $200; to Isaac Morgan, one lot, $200; to G. L. Roscoe, one lot, $200; to S. S. Purrington, one lot, $175.

July 10, 1883, Enterprise, p. 1, col. 6, Evansville, Wisconsin

—Mr. Kossuth Morgan is getting along nicely with his new house, on East Church street.

September 12, 1884, Evansville Review, p. 1, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

Messrs. Kossuth Morgan and Smith are building a new residence for Mr. Fred Barnum in the part of town called Canada, near Mr. Hanover’s.

April 14, 1885, Enterprise, Evansville, Wisconsin

E. N. Mann has sold the western half of his home lot to J. W. Morgan, who will occupy it for a residence. The price paid including the barn was $435.

May 29, 1885, Evansville Review, p. 3, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

J. W. Morgan has purchased the lot upon which Mr. Lewis Spencer’s barn stands, and intends building a residence there. Price paid. $400.

June 9, 1885, Enterprise, Evansville, Wisconsin

Kossuth Morgan is building a house for Charlie Jenkins on the east side.

May 14, 1886, Evansville Review, p. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin social reading.

—B. S. Hoxie has taken the job of building J. W. Morgan's new house on the Lewis Spencer lot, next to the F. B. church. He does it all, from the cellar to the garret—materials and labor. The total cost will be not far from $2,000. I. M. Brink does the mason work.

August 5, 1887, Evansville Review, p. 1,

col. 4, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mr. J. W. Morgan is having a large new residence built near the Free Baptist church. Mr. B. S. Hoxie has taken the contract, complete and throughout and Mr. Isaac Brink is now enjoyed doing the mason work the excavation for he cellar being complete and the wall commenced.

August 6, 1887, The Tribune, p. 1, col. 3, Evansville, Wisconsin

The frame is pretty well up and the carpenters are enclosing Mr. Morgan's new house. Mr. Joseph Clark is to be occupant when completed.

August 19, 1887, Evansville Review, p. 1, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

—Mr. B. S. Hoxie has the new residence which he is building for J. W. Morgan about enclosed as far as roofing and shingling is concerned and will undoubtedly have it entirely enclosed of Accident to Mr. Thomas Morgan.

August 27, 1887, The Tribune, p. 1, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

 We published a hastily written notice of the accident to Mr. Thomas Morgan, of Cooksville, last week. The accident happened while we were running off the Review and the notice reached only a few of our readers—mainly Mr. Morgan's friends.
 The item was incorrect in a few unessentials, little effecting the general result, however.
 He was at work on a barrel for Mrs. Loomis, on "Sect. 2," Mr. Webb Johnson was at work with him, both standing upon the same staging when it fell, carrying both down with it. Mr. Johnson received no injury, but Mr. Morgan broke both arms, the right one leading heavy weight was broken the flesh terribly. He was brought this place and taken to Dr. Smith's office, and the bones were set as well as the doctor was able to do considering the wounded flesh and the complication of the fracture. Without leaving the Dr.'s chair he was wheeled across the hallway into Mr.
 Day's parlor, and where he remains an enforced guest of his niece, Mrs. A. H.
 Day. He is being constantly attended by his wife, and other members of his family visit him daily. The doctor has dressed the leg several times, and although he pronounces it a very bad break, is gratified to see his patient keeping up such good courage, while he is doing the best he can to save his leg.

November 22, 1887, Evansville Review, p. 1, col. 4,

Evansville, Wisconsin

—H. D. Morgan, of the Kanapolis, Kan. Journal, hearing of his father's accident, started at once for home, reaching here Sunday by the 1:40 p.
 m. train. He will remain during the week.

November 22, 1887,

Evansville Review, p. 1, col. 3, Evansville, Wisconsin

clear off their joy

—Thomas Morgan who had his leg broken just three weeks ago today is yet on his cot in Mrs. Day's chamber parlor, suffering as little as the nature of the break and confinement would cause. He is constantly attended by his wife and daughter Ella. There is a healthiness of the wound that gives a degree of hope that he may recover all right, in time.

December 6, 1887, Evansville Review, p. 1, col. 3, Evansville, Wisconsin

Twenty-one years in the Infant class
 Rev. L. N. Wheeler writes: "A very interesting feature of our Sabbath-school in Evansville, Wis., in the infant class. It has long been under the care of Homer Potter, who is a veteran member of the church and a most enthusiastic worker in his department. At the recent completion of his twenty-first year of service he made a report which is full of interest to the local church; and, thinking it might be to many readers of THE NORTHWESTERN, I transmit the same: 'I began teaching the class in August, 1867, with thirteen names on class-book. Whole number of children in the twenty-one years, 469; number lost trace of, 83; not now in Sabbath-school, 86; death in the class, 8; deats since leaving class, 10; now in our school, and more or less advanced in years, 71; in Sunday-school work in other places, and for the most part church members, 121; now in the infant class, 90; members of this church, 26. Thirty-eight are married, and twenty-one of them have children; two of these children are in the claes, Raised by collections, $348.82; in twelve years received from school, $69.10; but for nine years the class has been self-sustaining; paid for helps, $345.27: for missionaries, nearly $40; for books, $22.50; on the organ, $6; whole number of sessions, 1,053 have been absent 67 times on account of sickness and engagements elsewhere. Have made over one thousand visit to the little ones.' " Mrs. Wm, Morgan now of Holdredge, Neb., was Assistant teacher of the above named class for 14 years.

que
 Sat
 M. ocr ting ocr 25c the fea opi
 noi are un a I Mr
 in Lil
 Sp
 Pc
 Pr
 M int ou pe
 m fe ed be se of in
 M
 M ti at th tl
 w

Wisconsin

October 6, 1888, the Tribune, p. 1, col. 2, Evansville,

As Chas. Morgan was driving a span of colts to the stockyards Thursday to unload a hog, the critter took a notion to ride on the tongue of the sled which position did not please the colts, so they left Messrs. Hog, sled and driving to enjoy a rest by the roadside, while they took a lively turn up across the Railroad tracks into Mr. M. E. Hanover's garden, demoralizing a large portion of his barb wire fence which cut and scratched the colts but fortunately not very serious. Mr. Moran escaped with a badly scraped ear.

January 26, 1889, The Tribune, p. 1, col. 3, Evansville, Wisconsin

OUR MOTHER.

From the Ellsworth (Kan.) Herald.

November 9, Mary J., wife of Thomas Morgan, of Cooksville, Wis., aged 65 years, 6 mos. and 12 days.

There is no name more hallowed with tender recollections or more kindly revered than that of "Our Mother." Its very utterance implies a tenderness which always entwines itself around the hearts of all. It is a tie closer knit than that of father, brother or sister.

To write an obituary is a very unpleasant undertaking, and is it not more so when it comes home to the writer.

Little did we think that when a few short months ago we bade our mother a cheery good bye it would be the last; little did we fully realize the prophetic words then spoken "probably this may be the last time I may see you, and if it is, always try and be good boy and man," that her prophecy of passing to the other shore would so soon be realized. But, alas, all too true. Her welcome kiss and warm clasp of the hand will no more be extended us when we again visit the old hearthstone.

From a family of six who have all passed their three score years, our mother was the first to be called. Being sick but five short days with neuralgia of the heart and suffering intense pain, the icy hand of death snapped the bonds and the house of sickness was suddenly transferred into mourning. A husband and four children, two of which are residents of this county, are left to keenly feel the loss of a mother's counsel and love.

Pen cannot portray the depth of feeling at such a time as these, and to those who extended the warm four children, two of which are residents of this county, are left to keenly feel the loss of a mother's counsel and love.

Pen cannot portray the depth of feeling at such a time as these, and to those who extended the warm hand of friendship and sympathy to us ere our departure to once again look on her fair face before the lid is forever closed we extend our most tenderest thanks.

Close her eyes calmly, she's free from pain,
And we will trust in God to see her again,
And while my soul retains the power,
To think upon each faded year,
In every bright or shadow'd hour,
My heart shall hold my mother dear.

November 26, 1889, Evansville Review, p. 4,

col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

Kossuth Morgan, Joshua Frantz and Tom Jones go to Union to build a barn for W. W. Gillies. The size is to be 36 x 70. Mr. Morgan put up a barn frame for Mr. D. E. Stevens on his farm in porter, 50 x 120.

June 16, 1890, The Tribune, p. 1, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mrs. Wm. Morgan of Nebraska, came Friday to visit her aged mother and friends here.

September 9, 1890, The Evansville Review, p. 1, col. 3, Evansville, Wisconsin

Kossuth L. Morgan took the late Wednesday evening train last week for Belvidere, where he goes at house carpenter work.

September 9, 1890, The Evansville Review, p. 1, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

Messrs Morgan & Co. have now in their carriage factory of their own manufacture as fine a carriage for the prohibition concert troop, which will canvass in this county during the season as is often seen.

June 9, 1893, The Enterprise, p. 1, col. 3, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mr. L. K. Morgan is doing the carpenter work on Harry Blakeley's new residence on South Main Street.

June 9, 1893, The Enterprise, p. 4, col. 1, Evansville, Wisconsin

The Law and Order League met in the F. W. Baptist church Friday evening last and adopted a constitution signed by 57 citizens. They proceeded to elect their officers as follows: Caleb Spashall, President, A. S. Baker, 1st Vice President, W. H. Hatfield, 2d Vice President, J. W. Morgan, 3d Vice President, Dr. L. B. Beebe Secretary, D. E. Stevens Treasurer. Executive Committee, O. S. Shepard, Charles Wilder, John Evans. A guarantee fund of over $800 was pledged for the purpose of executing the desired work of the order. The object of the League may be judged by its title. The meeting adjourned to meet again in the City Hall Friday evening the 23d, inst, at 7.30 p. m. All citizens who wish the State and Village laws to govern the people, are requested to be present and unite with the league in its efforts. Call at the office of L. B. Beebe read and sign before the constitution.

March 22, 1894, Evansville Review, p. 1, Evansville, Wisconsin

Kossuth Morgan met with a serious accident Friday morning while at work on the Glidden house. He was on the roof and missing his footing fell on a hatchet and cut his hand at the base of the thumb very badly. He went immediately to Dr. Evans and had it dressed but it will be sometime before he can use a hammer again.

October 27, 1894, The Badger, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mr. Kossuth Morgan left for Alabama Tuesday morning where he expects to wield the hammer and saw.

November 9, 1895, The Badger, p. 1, col. 4, Evansville, Wisconsin

The little two and one-half year old child of Mrs. Will Baines of Janesville, died of pneumonia and was buried on Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Morgan, of this city and Archie Morgan of Madison, attended the funeral.

April 7, 1898, Evansville Review, Evansville, Wisconsin

Bert Morgan has purchased the old Hiram Spencer house; Mr. Van Wormer is moving it for him to his lot on the east side; Sat E. Barnard will build a handsome modern residence where the Spencer house has stood so long.

October 30, 1900, The Tribune, Evansville, Wisconsin

The moving season has commenced. Mr. Joel Morgan and family will soon move into the Mr. Gill Searles new residence in the south part of the city opposite Mr. J. B. Hartleys.

April 2, 1901, P. 3, col. 3, The Tribune, Evansville, Wisconsin

Joel W. Morgan and wife to Amanda E. Mitchell lots 13, 14, 15, block 10 Evansville and other land, $825. May 26, 1903, Enterprise, p. 3, col. 6, Evansville, Wisconsin (see 1891 map below for these lots on East Church Street.

The many friends of Chester Morgan were glad to see him down town, Thanksgiving, after an illness of two months with typhoid fever.

November 26, 1904, The Badger, p. 1, col. 3, Evansville, Wisconsin

On next Tuesday evening, ye
Dec. 6th, the Misses Lucy Belle wh Biglow, Burnice Franklin and Cora Morgan will give a recital in Magee's Opera House. Miss Biglow is just home from the the Cumnook School of Oratory in lea the N. W. University, and will an give a reading that will interest I and please her audience. The so Misses Franklin and Morgan W. are too well known in Evans- da ville to need any words of praise H from The Badger, Admission de 25 cents; children under 14, 15c. he

December 3, 1904, The Badger, p. 1, col. 3, Evansville, Wisconsin

BOYS' CONTEST

— OF THE —

EVANSVILLE SEMINARY,

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH,
TUESDAY, APRIL TWENTY-SIX.

At 8 O'Clock.

Invocation.

Music.

1. A Singular Life.....SEYMOUR LIND
2. The Dumb Waiter Baby..... FRED MORGAN
3. Jacky Tar's Mail.....VICTOR C. TULLIS
4. Hand Car No. 412.....IVAN FAY

Music.

5. Desperate Remedies.....GEO. KEEHN
6. Where Ignorance Is Bliss.....JULIAN D. ROWLEY
7. Twigs and Tudens.....HENRY WALLACE

Music.

Decision of Judges.

April 20, 1910, Enterprise, Evansville, Wisconsin

Evansville continues to expand commercially. Through the efforts of the Commercial club there has been secured for Evansville a new industry. The company, to be known as the Evansville Manufacturing Company, is now being formed to undertake the manufacture of light machinery, more particularly gasoline engines of a size suitable for general use on the farm. The active management will be in the hands of Mr. Frank Frost and Mr. Chester Morgan, both well known in Evansville. Mr. Frost was graduated as a mechanical engineer from the University of Wisconsin and has had several years of practical design, construction and testing of gas engines. Mr. Morgan has been engaged in general construction work and has an enviable reputation in the handling of men and materials. For many months these two young men have been trying out a new type of gas engine of their own invention and design. For the present the factory will be located in the Grange store warehouse, near the station.

December 22, 1910, Evansville Review, p. 1, col. 4, Evansville, Wisconsin (abbreviated version)

The household goods of Mr. Chester Morgan were loaded in a car last Saturday to be shipped to Ridgeway where the family is to make their future home.

May 2, 1912, Evansville Review, p. 5, col. 3, Evansville, Wisconsin

n Death of Isaac Morgan

S PASSES AWAY AT HOME IN SAVANNAH, ILL.

d n st rs r f
-
-
1
1
Many living in and near Evansville will recall Isaac E. Morgan, who lived a number of years ago at Union. His death occurred at the home in Savannah, Ill., Jan. 30.

Isaac E. Morgan, son of James and Jane Jones Morgan was born in Columbus, Ohio, in October, sixty-eight years ago. When a child he went to Union, Wis., with his parents. In 1872 he was united in marriage to Miss Ella Fairbanks. This union was blessed with five children, one of whom died in infancy. The wife and mother passed away seven months ago, leaving four children to mourn both parents within a short space of time. The children, Clara, wife of Bruce Savage of Rockford, Irvin, at home, Milton of Miles City, Mont., and Frank of North McGregor, were with the father during his last illness.

Besides his immediate family, Mr. Morgan is survived by four brothers, William, of Holdredge, Nebr., John, in San Diego, Cal., Joel, in Evansville, Wis., and Joseph in Winnipeg, Canada.

Mr. Morgan was a member of the Masonic fraternity, and was affiliated with the Ellis lodge in Rockford.

February 13, 1913, Evansville Review, p. 1, col. 6, Evansville,

Wisconsin

Miss Cora Morgan, who is teaching at Madison resumed her work there Monday, after a holiday visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Morgan.

January 7, 1915, Evansville Review, p. 4, col. 1, Evansville, Wisconsin

Miss Cora Morgan came home from Madison to spend the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Morgan.

January 28, 1915, Evansville Review, p. 5, col. 1, Evansville, Wisconsin

The Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church will meet at the home of Mrs. Henry Morgan, 115 Highland St., Thursday, Nov. 6. A report on the District convention at Milton will be given.

October 30, 1919, Evansville Review, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mr. Chas. Morgan, died Wednesday morning at his home on East Main St. Mr. Morgan has been an Evansville resident for many years. Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home. Rev. Misdall will conduct the services. Interment will be at Maple Hill Cemetery.

February 5, 1920, Evansville Review, Evansville, Wisconsin

Charles Morgan, 510 East Main Street, passed away at his home Wednesday morning at the age of eighty-one years.

He was born on the Erie Canal, near Syracuse, N. Y., March 28, 1838. At the age of 14 he came to Wisconsin, and excepting seven years spent in Iowa, he has resided in Rock County for 61 years and in Evansville since 1894.

He was united in marriage to Eleanor Ann Fountain, Town of Porter, Rock County, Wisconsin, October 6, 1860.

He leaves to mourn his loss, besides the widow, one sister, Miss Helen Morgan, Aurora, Ill., three children, Mrs. Ella Baines, Janesville; Albert of this city, and Archie of Madison; five grandchildren, and six great-grandchildren.

The funeral was held Friday at 2 p.m. at the residence, Rev. Misdall officiating.

February 12, 1920, Evansville Review, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mrs. Lucy Jane Morgan died at her home on First St., Thursday, Feb. 26th.

She was the daughter of Philip and Lucy Pond and was born Aug. 14, 1847 in Rutland, Dane County, where she lived until she was ten years old, when her parents moved to a farm in Union, Rock County.

She was married to Joel W. Morgan April 26th, 1868 and lived on a farm in Rutland for sixteen years. Then came to Evansville and for 41 years this city has been her home.

She united with the Baptist church of Union in 1865 and later with the First Baptist church of this city and for sixty years was a loyal devoted consistent member. For more than fifty years she was especially interested in the Sunday school work of the church and was always either a Bible teacher or Superintendent of the school. She was teaching her class the Sunday she was stricken down, and was never again permitted to attend the services of the church. Two years ago she was also interested in the schools of the city and for several years was a member of the board of education.

She is survived by her husband, J. W. Morgan and two children, Miss Cora Morgan of Madison, and Chester Morgan of Brooklyn and two grandchildren.

Funeral services were held from the home Sunday afternoon, March 1, with burial in Maple Hill cemetery. Rev. F. W. Gales, pastor of the Baptist church officiating, assisted by Rev. A. W. Stephens of Campbellsport, Wis. The pall bearers were Guy Barnard, Earnest Clifford, Harry Spooner, B. A. Meyers, Fred Franklin and E. C. Carey.

The community loses a respected citizen in her, the church a faithful worker and the pastor a wise councilor and the family a devoted member.

March 5, 1925, p. 4, Evansville Review, Evansville, Wisconsin

Evansville Loses Pioneer Citizen

Evansville--One of Evansville's oldest residents, Mrs. Charles Morgan, 88, died at 12:30 a.m. Saturday in the home of her son, Bert Morgan, East Main Street. She had been in failing health for a long time and was seriously ill for several weeks.

Mrs. Morgan, formerly Eleanor Fountain, was born July 24, 1843, on a farm east of Evansville where she grew to womanhood. She was married to Charles Morgan and they made their home in Evansville for many years. Mr. Morgan died Feb. 4, 1918 and the past four years Mrs. Morgan had made her home with her son and daughter-in-law.

She is survived by two sons, Bert Morgan, Evansville, and Archie Morgan, Madison and one daughter, Mrs. Ella Baines, 326 North Pine Street, Janesville; nine grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

The funeral will be at 2 p.m. Tuesday in Allen's funeral home.

February 6, 1932, p. 3, Janesville Gazette, Janesville, Wisconsin

Clifford Morgan, 24, Janesville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Morgan and former local resident, enlisted last week in the United States army air corps at the Janesville recruiting station in the post office building. Morgan, who is a grandson of Mrs. Bert Morgan and Mrs. William Heffel, this city has been employed at the Janesville Cotton Mills, the past four years. He is interested in meteorology, a branch of the service he expects to study.

September 18, 1941, The Evansville Review, p. 1, col. 7, Evansville, Wisconsin

RESIDENT DIES RITES ARE HELD

Mrs. Floyd Morgan, 73, died unexpectedly Saturday night in her home at 279 E. Main St.

The former Pearl Heffel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Heffel, was born at Loganville, March 17, 1889. She moved to Evansville as a child and was graduated from high school here. She was married to Floyd Morgan in Dec. 1912. About 38 years ago they moved to Janesville, where he was a barber. Later they lived in Footville, coming to Evansville last spring after he retired as a barber. She was a member of the Trinity Episcopal Church, Janesville.

Surviving are her husband, four sons, Robert of Madison, Clifford of Toronto, Canada, Donald of Janesville, and Richard of Randall, Wis.; 12 grandchildren, a brother, Lloyd of Evansville.

Services were held at 2 p.m. Wednesday in the Allen Funeral Home with the Rev. Henry Roth, pastor of St. Mary's of the Wood Church in Elkhorn officiating. Burial was in Maple Hill cemetery.

November 29, 1962, p. 9, col. 1, Evansville Review, Evansville, Wisconsin

Floyd (Mike) Morgan.

Floyd (Mike) Morgan, 77, died in the Stoughton Hospital on Wednesday of last week after several weeks illness. He was the son of the late Bert and Kiell Johnson Morgan and was born in Evansville, Aug. 17, 1891. He attended the Evansville Schools and was a barber here for many years.

He later was a barber in Janesville and before retiring seven years ago, he owned and operated a barber shop in Footville.

He married Pearl Heffel of Evansville 55 years ago. She died Nov. 25, 1962. Mr. and Mrs. Morgan moved to Evansville from Footville seven years ago. He was a member of the Trinity Episcopal Church in Janesville.

Mr. Morgan is survived by four sons, Robert, Madison, Donald, Janesville; Clifford, Toronto, Can. And Richard, Randolph, a sister Mrs. George Levzow, Evansville and several grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Friday afternoon in the Allen Funeral Home with the Rev. Ronald Ortmeier, pastor of the Trinity Episcopal Church in Janesville, officiating and burial was in Maple Hill cemetery.

Evansville Review, February 20, 1969, p. 2, col. 3, Evansville, Wisconsin