

MARRIED.

By Rev. D. E. Davis, at the residence of the brides father, in Evansville, Wis., Mr.
Caleb Snashall and Miss Emaline Adams.

November 21, 1866, Evansville Review, p. 4, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

ALMOST A FIRE.—On Thursday last the usual calmness of our village was startled by the magic cry of fire.
Smoke was seen to issue in curling masses from the roof of the house of Mr. Wm. Campbell on Madison street, and now tenanted by Messrs. Adams & Snashall. Men hurriedly grasped water pails and buckets and rushed to the scene, by hundreds. The alarm was timely, and before the flames had fairly burst from roof its destructive powers were deluged by the timely arrival of water. Several little hand force pumps, owned by some of our merchants, did excellent service, as water could be more directly and effectively applied. The origin of the fire was from an accumulation of soot
in the stove pipe, which overheating, ignited the adjacent wood work. The fire occurring at midday ample assist-was readily obtained and a general conflagration avoided.

February 19, 1868, Evansville Citizen, p. 4, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mr. Caleb Snashall holds his own—since Saturday. It is a boy.

August 14, 1872, Evansville Review, p.1 , col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

Ken

00
50
75
75
25 30
75
10
0
0
0 5
5 0
0
1
0

Snashall & Mygatt

Successors to Adams & Snashall.

Dealers in Shelf and Heavy
HARDWARE,
Stoves & Farm Machinery.

MANUFACTURERS OF
Tin, Copper and Sheet Iron Ware.

THE DIAMOND PLOW,
the hardest Plow made. Call and see it.

We Keep in Stock

SENECA FALLS IRON WELL PUMPS
and will put them into deep wells on short
notice, and warrant them.
Evansville, Wis.

28t1

SH

December 11, 1872, Evansville Review,

Snashall & Mygatt

Successors to Adams & Snashall.

Dealers in Shelf and Heavy

HARDWARE,

Stoves & Farm Machinery

MANUFACTURERS OF

Tin, Copper and Sheet Iron Ware

THE DIAMOND PLOW,

the hardest Plow made. Call and see it.

We Keep in Stock

SENACA FALLS IRON WELL PUMPS

and will put them into deep wells on short
notice, and warrant them.

Evansville, Wis.

281

January 14, 1874, Evansville Review ad. P. 4, col. 3, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mr. Caleb Snashall left his store a week ago Saturday, feeling quite unwell, and since, has been under the care of Dr. Smith. Later we learn he is on the amend.

February 25, 1874, The Evansville Review, p. 1, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

Caleb Snashall's family had small pox, no deaths, confined for 4 weeks. March 18, 1874. Evansville Review, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mr. James Snashall, father of our hardware merchant, Mr. Caleb Snashall, died from the effects of a paralytic shock, Saturday night, aged 62 years. His funeral was attended Tuesday, at the Baptist church, of which society he was a member, Rev. Mr. Kenyon, of Union, preaching. He had been a resident of Evansville nearly five years and further we are not sufficiently informed to be his truthful biographer; but would state more could our knowledge of him be obtained in time for our paper this week.

Messrs. Albert Snashall and J. F. Phifer, of Chicago, called upon us Monday. They are son and son-in-law of Mr. Jas. Snashall, deceased and who with their wives, were summoned by telegraph on the death of their father.

March 25, 1874, p. 1, col. 2 & 3, Evansville Review, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mr. Caleb Snashall left this afternoon for a trip into Iowa and elsewhere, on business connected with the Baker manufacturing company. He will be absent several weeks.

July 22, 1874, Evansville Review, p. 1, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

Rev. Mr. Snashall, formerly a pastor of the Baptist Church here, but now of Marshall, Mich., with wife, are visiting brother and mother in this place for a few days.

August 26, 1874, Evansville Review, p. 1, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

s- —Mrs. Sherman, who has been s- confined to her bed for some months,
it was thought to have been rapidly 1- sinking Sunday, and a dispatch was l was sent to her daughter and son-n in-law, Mr. Albert Snashall, at Chi-ie cago. They arrived on the early n Monday morning train, and found ie their mother yet in a hopeful way to r continue several days yet. She is e failing, and evidently cannot survive ly any great length of time. Her death may be expected at any moment.

January 13, 1875, Evansville Review, p. 1, col. 5, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mr. Snashall has purchased the Hazeltine property, which he has for some time occupied, paying therefore, $1,600.

December 1, 1875, Evansville Review, p. 3, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mr. Snashall has bought the farm belonging to his widowed mother, a short way out of town. The buildings will be removed on to a lot next north of C. M. Morehouse's, between that and Mrs. Quivey's.

April 26, 1876, Evansville Review, p. 3, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin country is...

 —Widow Snashall has had her house brought into town and planted on the vacant lot between Rev. Morehouse's and Mrs Quivey's premises. The building, a two story house with an L, was moved the distance of a mile or about, solely with a capstan and horse, superintended by her two sons, Caleb and Albert, with a couple of assistants. The work of removal was done without any apparent injury to the building. A good size stable is to follow, and will be placed upon the same lot.

May 24, 1876 Evansville Review, p. 3, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

Village Election. The following is the ticket elected yesterday. The election was animated, but we think no bad blood was spilt. The old question of "billiards or anti-billiards" was a vital issue, resulting in favor of the anti-billiard party by a small majority. For President: A. S. Baker; For Trustees, Caleb Snashall, David Stevens, Lewis Spencer, E. W. Beebe; For Clerk, Homer Potter; For Treasurer, R. Winston; For Justice of the Peace, Jacob West; For Constable, Henry Hubbard; For Supervisor, A. S. Baker.

March 7, 1877, Evansville Review, p. 3, col. 4, Evansville, Wisconsin

—One after another of the old land marks fall. The Crist house, built by Mr. Henry Spencer some thirty-five years ago, is being completely dismantled and rebuilt, and will be made into a large, commodious and tasty dwelling. Mr. McGee is owner of the premises, and Mr. Albert Snashall supervises the carpenter work.

September 26, 1877, Evansville Review, p. 3, col. 3, Evansville, Wisconsin

Snashall & Mygatt. Their store is the same that was established by Messrs. Parker & Snashall in 1864, succeeded by Adams & Snashall in 1866 and by the present firm Snashall & Mygatt in 1871.

During the winter or early spring the Crist store was purchased, the center wall removed, and some 25 feet added to the rear, making a store capacity of 42 by 82 feet, with a capacious cellar...and a second story.

The partition walls separating it from the adjoining stores are brick, extending above the angle of the adjacent roofs, making it as nearly fire proof as is usually done, where tin roofs and brick partition walls can avail.

...the building... Mr. Albert Snashall, brother of the senior (partner.)

October 3, 1877, p. 3, vol. XII, No. 23, The Evansville Review

Mr. Albert Snashall's family have moved into their new house. A few of their neighbors and friends came down on them Friday night "like a wolf on the fold." And their departure revealed a nice cake basket and some other notions and so forth.

February 13, 1878, p. 3, col. 2, Evansville Review, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mr. Caleb Snashall has bought Mrs. Amelia Axtell's farm, paying $1,600. Mr. Snashall before owned a farm just across the road from Mrs. Axtell's. He proposes to make one farm of the two, and that a nice one.

July 23, 1879, Evansville Review, p. 3, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

Married--By Rev. S. E. Sweet, of Albany, on the 12th inst., Mr. Henry T. Greenman and Miss Julia A. Snashall, both of Evansville.

August 20, 1879, Evansville Review, p. 3, col. 4, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mr. Albert Snashall is pushing the work on his new house on Main St., and it will soon be ready to move into.

September 24, 1879, Evansville Review, p. 3, col. 4, Evansville, Wisconsin

Al Snashall moved into his new house on Main Street, Saturday. Mr. Richardson, the barber, owns the house on Liberty street in which Mr. Snashall formerly lived, and will occupy it soon, if he does not already.

December 10, 1879, Evansville Review, p. 3, col. 1, Evansville, Wisconsin

Snashall & Mygatt erected telephone lines.

P. 3, April 21, 1880, Evansville Review

Snashall & Mygatt. The pioneer hardware dealers of Evansville, owning the only double store front in town.

The Pudding Stick, p. 1, vol. 1, no., 1, June 1881, Evansville, Wisconsin

Rev. J. Snashall and wife, of Michigan, are stopping with brothers and towns people a few weeks. Mr. Snashall occupied the Baptist pulpit here Sunday morning.

August 3, 1881, Evansville Review, p. ,3 co.. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

Albert Snashall received a pretty severe shaking up from a fall the other day at the raising of Mr. Fellow's barn. It was caused by too much haste of the man adjusting timbers opposite to him on the frame, throwing out the one on which he was standing and letting him down, the same falling upon him, injuring his left arm and back so as to disable him from work a number of days.

May 27, 1882, Evansville Review, p. 3, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

Birtie Snashall, second son of Caleb Snashall, received a pretty severe kick by a horse, in the face, Thursday evening, as he was taking a horse to water.

March 17, 1883, Evansville Review, p. 1, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mr. Albert Snashall with his gang of carpenters, has the dwelling of Mr. John Keller about inclosed, which is the first of the season that we know of which has had the foundation put in this spring. We believe Mr. Orlean Hollister has one about inclosed also.

April 24, 1883, Enterprise, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mr. Albert Snashall bought a very handsome parlor suit at H. J. Smith's Furniture store, last week.

August 7, 1883, Enterprise, p. 1, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

The Baker Mfg. Co.'s

Pumps and Windmills !

The late firm of Snashall & Mygatt having turned over their pump and windmill business in this section to me, I am now prepared to furnish, erect and repair all kinds of PUMPS, WINDMILLS, FEED GRINDERS, etc., manufactured by the above firm, on short notice and guarantee satisfaction or no pay, having had years of experience in this business. Also manufactured on short notice and warranted not to leak.

Water Tanks of all Descriptions

It is unnecessary for me to enumerate the reasons why people in this vicinity should purchase the above mentioned articles from our home manufactory, it being one of the best manufactories known of these articles, easy of access for repairs and myself always in readiness to furnish new or make such repairs as may be called for.

Hoping to merit your orders, I am respectfully,

ALBERT SNASHALL.

October 23, 1883 & December 1883, Albert Snashall, ad in Enterprise, Evansville, Wisconsin Review.

Born.

Greenman -- On the 18th inst. to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Greenman, a boy.

January 22, 1884, Enterprise, p. 4, Evansville, Wisconsin

—Mr. Albert Snashall has opened a carpenter's shop at the lower end of Main street, where he will employ his leisure time making farmer's water tanks.

December 5, 1884, Evansville Review, p. 1, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mr. Caleb Snashall has sold the old mill property at the west end of the bridge to Mr. Geo. Magee. The price paid was $500.

January 23, 1885, Evansville Review, p. 3, vol. XIX, No. 38

—Mr. Caleb Snashall is preparing to build, what he terms, a model barn, a mile or so west of town. It is to be 36x50 feet, and furnished in a tasty and substantial manner.

October 9, 1885, Evansville Review, p. 3, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

A very large barn is being erected on Caleb Snashall's farm, southwest of town. In style of architecture it differs from anything in the country.

December 1, 1885, Enterprise, Evansville, Wisconsin

A Visit to the Snashall Farm.

Donning a borrowed overcoat and wrapping ourself up warm in the robes we took seat Wednesday afternoon by the side of Mr. Caleb Snashall for a ride out to his farm, situated about a mile or so south-west of town. Our principle purpose was to see his new barn erected this fall on his hundred acre farm, which bids fair to be one of the best and most productive in the country. The barn is 38 by 52 feet, and 20-foot posted. It was late in the season to commence a job of that kind, but the prolonged mild weather of December gave him an opportunity to lay the last shingle on the roof before the blizzard of the afternoon of the 4th of December, struck it. Mr. Snashall exclaimed, "Lucky" for once. No damage.

The barn is yet in the carpenter's care. On the south side is a long row of stanchions for his cattle; the floor is double laid and double boarded on the walls. On the north side is located his horse stalls and machinery rooms. The center of the barn is occupied by a broad floor. Outside is a large 14-foot wind-power mill on a 60 foot tower, which affords ample power for pumping water for the stock, shelling corn, grinding feed, cutting fodder, and doing an abundance of other work requiring light motive power. There was a light breeze at the time of our visit, and his machinery was all in motion, doing its part towards feeding and caring for the stock.

In his yards are nice grades of stock—Berkshire hogs, a fine Jersey bull, horses, cattle, colts and cows, indicating a well stocked, Wisconsin suburban barn.

Mr. Snashall himself resides in town, at the head of Main-st, going over to his farm daily, when not absent from town on business. The immediate care and attention of all rests in the careful hands of Mr. Henry Greenman, a brother-in-law, and with whom also Mr. Snashall's widowed mother resides.

Northwestern Dairymen's Association.

vis
vic has
(
her the
'
ure
Ev
els we
'
fea
cit
ye:
'
co
Ca
Bu
vil
'
tol
'
de up lac
ca:
we
'
fin so ing
da an thi
'
te las
'
Ch
wi
'
ra dr
G:
tel

store.

ay — While Albert Snashall was standing ith on a ladder in John France's well Tues-ed day afternoon, engaged in sinking a gas
 ed pipe to deepen the well, assisted by Mr.
 Ed- Fideier, who stood on the same kind of ey staging, a pump, to be used in testing he their work, broke loose as it was being
 es. handed down, fell, and striking Mr.
 ave Snashall on the head and arm, cut his up-rth per lip and a long gash on his hand, bean- sides bruising him elsewhere pretty badly.
 ith. As the heavy pump began to fall, Mr France called out, and Mr. Sashall looking up and seeing his danger put up his hand to ward the blow, received it on his arm rather than on his head. He narrowly escape fatal injuries, but pretty badly hurt, as it was.

July 8, 1887, Evansville Review, p. 1, col. 3, Evansville, Wisconsin

—The old Winston store is undergoing repairs and improvements under the directions of Mr. Cummings, of Janesville, who informs us that he expects to be able to open with a large stock of goods about the first of next month. Messrs. A. Snashall and John Walton are doing the joiner work and Mr. Backenstoe the painting. It is our opinion from present appearances that it will be placed in a better and more attractive condition for showing goods than ever before. Let all decide to give this firm a hearty welcome and such a share of their trade as they may merit.

August 13, 1887, The Tribune, p. 1, col. 4, Evansville, Wisconsin

Caleb Snashall who has spent most of the fall in Minnesota and Western Iowa, selling the monitor windmill, returned Saturday. He says he has not so much trouble to sell mills as to get his pay. Mills sell well, but pay comes slow.

November 4, 1887, Evansville Review, p. 1, col. 3, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mr. C. Snashall has purchased a lot in Hyde Park near Chicago, upon which he intends to build. We suppose for the use of himself and family.

December 22, 1888, The Tribune, p. 1, col. 3, Evansville, Wisconsin

Caleb Snashall came up from Chicago Saturday night, returning again Monday night. 1889, Evansville Review, p. 1, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

November 5,

Mr. C. Snashall is spending a few days getting acquainted with his family and old friends here while his time is principally employed with his Chicago possessions.

November 9, 1889, The Tribune, p. 1, col. 4, Evansville, Wisconsin

Caleb Snashall went to Chicago Monday to transfer some real estate he held in that city.

February 4, 1890, Evansville Review, p. 1, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mr. Snashall and wife rode over to Stoughton Monday morning to visit with friends from Vermont and Minneapolis, sister of Mrs. Snashall's father, the late Albert Adams, and are having a family reunion.

June 3, 1890, Evansville Review, p. 1, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

GO BLUE DEVILS! Fans were shouting the same thing when this team—the Evansville high school squad of 1890—took the field. The picture belongs to Bill Hamilton, front row, right, who was prompted to bring the picture to the Review after seeing a picture of the football squad of '95 published last fall. For the benefit of Evansville's old-timers, especially, members of the '90 squad were, left to right, sitting on floor, Ray Doolittle, Herb Van Patten, Harvey Walton and Hamilton. Behind them: Bert Snashall, Floyd West, George Wilder, Earl Mihills, captain, Jack Stair, Billy Stevens and L. E. Gettel, professor. Note the round football, which the players were not allowed to touch with their hands.

April 26, 1956, Evansville Review, p. 1, Evansville, Wisconsin

✓
—The new bell for the M. E. church came Friday, and Saturday, in the slush and snow John Reilly loaded it onto his dray and landed it in the church yard where it remained over Sunday, that people might know the long expected sonorous mass of metal had come. Monday morning W. W. Garfield, ably assisted by Mr. Albert Snashall, got their tackles together, and after making everything firm and sure, raised it in position in the tower of the church at about the middle of the afternoon, and at a quarter before five, revolved it on its axes when it poured out a tone remarkable for its volume and sweetness. Everybody seemed to be delighted with it. The key is said to be F sharp. The weight is a few pounds less than sixteen hundred; the cost delivered at the depot here was nearly $400. It is the product of the McShane bell foundry, Baltimore, and has the warranty of being one of the finest toned bells, of its size, in the country, and it is hoped that its use will more than confirm its expectations.

March 24, 1891, Evansville Review, Evansville, Wisconsin

FIVE NEAR TO DEATH

Evansville Skaters Break Through Thin Ice On Lake Leota.

RESCUERS WENT IN WITH THEM.

Claud Snashall, Miss Clara Smith, John
Shoemaker, Earl Mihills and Lyman Allen Have a Terrible Struggle in Icey Waters Thanksgiving Day.

Two Evansville skaters came very near losing their lives Thursday as did three brave young men who came to their rescue. Claude Snashall and Miss Clara Smith were skating on Lake Leota and broke through the thin ice. Snashall held Miss Smith above water until John Shoemaker, Earl Mihills and Lyman Allen came to his assistance. Shoemaker plunged in while Mihills crawled out in the ice, and Allen held his feet. The ice was too thin to hold them and in an instant all five of them were floundering in the cold water. The young men were all able to swim, and finally succeeded in getting the young lady to shore.

November 28, 1891, The Janesville Gazette, Janesville, Wisconsin

Mabel Snashall closed her union school Friday. She goes back again to teach a two month's spring term.

March 29, 1892, Evansville Review, p. 1, col. 3, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mr. A. E. Dixon has bought the Albert Snashall place, a fine residence on Main Street, and will move onto it the first of March. Mr. Snashall does not intend on leaving town at present, and more probably will build again in the spring.

January 3, 1893, Evansville Review, p. 1, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

Albert Snashall has commenced his new buildings on Park St. having his barn about complete.

March 31, 1893, Enterprise, p. 1, col. 3, Evansville, Wisconsin

Albert Snashall, on Park Street, is enclosing a good $2,000 house. He occupies temporary quarters in a barn, he put up earlier, until his house is ready later on.

June 13, 1893, Evansville Review, Evansville, Wisconsin

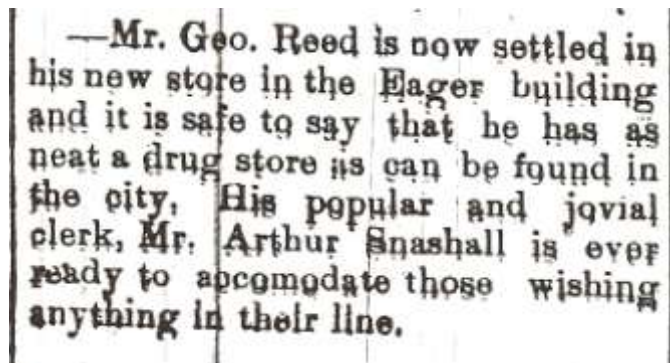

Mr. Claude Snashall left yesterday for Chicago, where he will attend the dental department of Rush Medical college.

October 24, 1893, Evansville Review, Evansville, Wisconsin

Buildings

Albert Snashall – Park Street – Caleb Snashall, builder, 1893

Lansing Mygatt – West Main – Caleb Snashall, builder, 1893

—Mr. Geo. Reed is now settled in his new store in the Eager building and it is safe to say that he has as neat a drug store as can be found in the city. His popular and jovial clerk, Mr. Arthur Snashall is ever ready to accommodate those wishing anything in their line.

December 28, 1893, Evansville Review, p. 1, col. 3, Evansville, Wisconsin

Caleb Snashall is the first to start up improvements. He is erecting a new ... on Second Street near the W. Campbell place.

March 16, 1894, Enterprise, p. 4, col. 1, Evansville, Wisconsin

The Law and Order League met in the F. W. Baptist church Friday evening last and adopted a constitution signed by 57 citizens. They proceeded to elect their officers as follows: Caleb Snashall, President, A. S. Baker, 1st Vice President, W. H. Hatfield, 2d Vice President, J. W. Morgan, 3d Vice President, Dr. L. B. Beebe Secretary, D. E. Stevens Treasurer. Executive Committee, O. S. Shepard, Charles Wilder, Joann Evans. A guarantee fund of over $800 was pledged for the purpose of executing the desired work of the order. The object of the League may be judged by its title. The meeting adjourned to meet again in the City Hall Friday evening the 23d, inst, at 7.30 p. m. All citizens who wish the State and Village laws to govern the people, are requested to be present and unite with the league in its efforts. Call at the office of L. B. Beebe read and sign before the constitution.

March 22, 1894, Evansville Review, p. 1, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mr. Claude Snashall came home Saturday night to spend a few weeks at the parental home.

April 26, 1894, Evansville Review, p. 1, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

Teacher's Association.

The Rock county teacher's association which was held in this city Saturday was largely attended by representative teachers throughout the county. The subjects given for essays and discussion were well handled and showed much care and thought in preparation. These meetings are productive of much good and the public are pleased to see that so large an interest is manifested by the teachers.

The following are the names of teachers present with location.

Evansville:—H. L. Austin, B. Agnes Dawson, Florence Reed, Mabel E. Snashall, Mary Earle, Nettie Sayles, Nellie M. Gillies, E. Mary Floyd, Jennie Byran, Robert West, Mae Johnson, Anna E. Burabam, Minnie J. Hayward, Bernice Floyd, Mae Floyd, Lettie Jones, A. W. Cook, L. E. Gettle, F. L. Janes and F. S. Janes.

Janesville:—Lizzie A. Patterson, Jennie Cody, Margaret Joyce, Alice Ratheram, Bertha Layles, Caroline Kimball, Clara M. Ormsby, Lovilla M. Mosher, Lizzie F. Murray, Lottie Ratheram, Emma Paulson, Grace Kirk, H. C. Buell Lizzie Morris, and L. Ralph Leake.

Union:—Louise Nelson.

Brooklyn:—Emma Holt.

Orfordville:—Chessie F. Smiley.

Centre:—C. H. Hemmingway and Goo Pepper.

Avon:—F. F. Norris.

Beloit:—David Thorne.

Magnolia:—Alice M. Clifford.

Footville:—Edith Day and C. S. Wolcott.

Afton:—J. S. Cammon.

son yar buay
blre

T
Sum
in e and larg
colle
Wor cent also pape men
Won
Darc
Yori
An
addi
on D er, s infor
ing.
Th
year.
lishes
(Lim
Loca

On West
Excu
weste
North
Nebri
Idaho rates will b thirt

May 8, 1894, The Tribune, p. 1, col. 4, Evansville,

Wisconsin

The new drug store firm reads Messrs. Reed & Snashall, Geo. H. Reed and Arthur Snahsall.
June 1, 1894, Enterprise, p. 1, col. 5, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mr. H. W. Hamilton was elected street commissioner, J. M. Ballard, sexton, and F. M. Crow, A. A. Snashall and E. J. Ballard, members of the board of health, at the last meeting of the village board.

April 20, 1895, The Badger, p.1, col. 3, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mr. Bert Snashall is home for the summer holidays. He will help out on the Mygatt house during the summer.

June 22, 1895, The Badger, p. 1, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

Al Snashall left yesterday evening for Whitewater, in the interest of the Baker Mfg. Co.

February 26, 1896, Evansville Review, p. 1, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

Miss Mabel Snashall is visiting friends at Milton, from there she expects to go to Milwaukee and Chicago, and before her return home will visit in Denver, Colo., arriving home for the fall term of school.

June 18, 1896, Evansville Review, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mabel Snashall

The masons and a host of laborers are making rapid work with Snashall & Mygatt's building. The brick partition wall is up and the work of laying the foundations for the rear addition, pretty well advanced.

April 11, 1897, p. 3, vol. XI, No. 50, The Evansville Review, Evansville, Wisconsin

What is known as the Adams property on South Madison Street sold to C. Snashall, Saturday for $3,250.

The Enterprise, p. 1, vol. 14, No. 49, April 26, 1895.

Dr. C. H. Snashall, Physician & Surgeon, office in Calkins Bldg. Ad. The Enterprise, 1897, Evansville, Wisconsin

Snashall & Walters are soon to move their drug store into Dr. C. M. Smith's new building. They hope to be settled in their new quarters about April 15.

March 13, 1897, The Badger, Evansville, Wisconsin

Snashall & Walters will move their drug business into the new store being built by Dr. Smith in a few days, and a dry goods store will be opened in the one vacated by them by Mr. Engelhart from Monroe.

April 2, 1897, The Enterprise, p. 1, vol. 16, No. 46, Evansville, Wisconsin

DENTIST

First-class work at Reasonable prices.

Gas administered if desired.

DR. C. H. SNASHALL,
DENTIST.

Office in Calkin's Building.

EVANSVILLE, : WIS.

June 17, 1897, Evansville Review, p. 1, Evansville, Wisconsin

The work on the Snashall and Mygatt block is progressing finely. These two new stores added to the five other handsome ones will make a marked improvement...These buildings with the three new buildings of the Baker Manufacturing Co., new private residences and the school house made work plentiful for our own people as well as for workmen from adjoining towns.

July 3, 1897, The Badger, p. 1, vol. IV, No. 27. Evansville, Wisconsin

Arthur Snashall has purchased Mr. Walter's interest in the City Drug Store and is now its sole proprietor.

March 1, 1898, The Enterprise, p. 1, vol. 17, no. 43.

The firm of Snashall and Walters, druggists in this city has dissolved, Mr. Snashall becoming sole proprietor.

March 12, 1898, The Badger, p. 1, vol. V, No. 11

Dr. Bert Snashall has returned from Chicago, a full fledged dentist.

April 15, 1898, The Enterprise, p. 1, Vol. 17, No. 48.

C. Snashall is erecting a new building on North Madison Street which will be occupied by a bicycle factory.

August 20, 1898, The Badger, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mabel Snashall has sold her millinery stock in this city to Miss Lola Blood who is now in Chicago buying new goods. Miss Snashall in company with Miss Ida Young has purchased a stock of goods in Delavan. They leave for Chicago Monday to purchase their spring goods.

February 25, 1899, The Badger, p. 1, col. 4, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Snashall visited at the home of Mr. Thos. Alsop at Brooklyn last Saturday.

April 8, 1899, The Badger, p. 1, col. 3, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mr. and Mrs. Caleb Snashall have gone to First Lake to enjoy their cottage for a few weeks.

August 26, 1899, The Badger, p. 1, col. 3, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mrs. Cora Rowley who has been with her sister Mrs. Caleb Snashall for the past two months left Tuesday for her home in Chicago.

August 19, 1899, The Badger, p. 4, col. 1, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mr. A. A. Snashall's cellar was filled with water Wednesday night and water ran into the cellar of Jas. Gleave's residence covering 75 bushels of potatoes. The little engine was employed to pump the water out.

February 10, 1900, The Badger, p. 5, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

A. A. Snashall bought out W. W. Young in the furniture business.

October 5, 1900, Enterprise, Evansville, Wisconsin

A. A. Snashall has purchased W. W. Young's interest in the furniture store.

October 6, 1900, The Badger, p. 1, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mr. A. A. Snashall returned Sunday evening from Dr. Myers school of embalming of Chicago, where he became thoroughly posted in all of the latest improved methods of this wonderful art of preserving human bodies, which will be of great advantage to this community.

November 9, 1900 Enterprise, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mr. Arthur Snashall has purchased the first lot west of Mr. Hankinson on Garfield Ave., where he will erect a modern residence this spring.

February 26, 1901, The Tribune, p. 3, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

W. R. Patterson and wife to Kittie D. Snashall, pt. se 12/4, nw ¼, Sec. 27, Union $400.

March 15, 1901, Janesville Daily Gazette, "Real Estate Transfers, p. 1, Janesville, Wisconsin

Thomas Gleave and Arthur Snashall commenced excavating the cellars for their new residences on Garfield Ave., Monday.

April 11, 1901, Evansville Review, Evansville, Wisconsin

Hymen

Married: Wednesday, June 26, '01, at the home of the bride's parents on park street, Miss Mabel Snashall and Fred L. Janes, both of Evansville.

One of the prettiest home weddings ever held in this city occurred last Thursday afternoon at four o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Snashall when their daughter Mabel exchanged marriage vows with Fred L. Janes in the presence of about a hundred relatives and friends.

Rev. Mr. Short read the marriage service and the bridal pair was attended by Miss Ida Young and Mr. Gordon.

The parlors were prettily decorated with blossoms peculiar to the month and furnished a picture long to be remembered by the guests.

This is no need for us to go into detail regarding the superior qualities which make up the character of these young people for they have lived in our midst since childhood and are held in highest esteem by all.

Their popularity was further evidenced by the many beautiful gifts from friends which will later find place in the new home.

An elaborate wedding repast daintly served was one of the pleasing and much enjoyed features of the event.

Much to the chagrin of the guests the bridal pair were driven overland to the County seat and thus escaped many parting blessings in the form of rice, rose petals, old shoes, etc.

The Badger extends congratulations.

June 29, 1901, The Badger, Evansville, WI

A. A. Snashall, wife and daughter are now nicely domiciled in their handsome new home on Garfield Avenue.

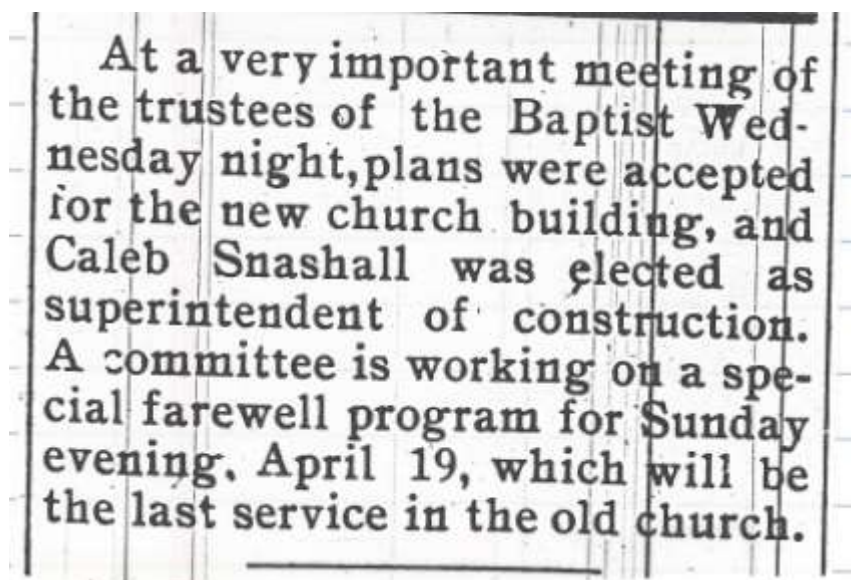

September 14, 1901, Evansville, Wisconsin

Dr. Claude Snashall is in attendance at the Wisconsin Dental Association's convention which is now in session at Madison.

May 15, 1902, Evansville Review, Evansville, Wisconsin

A. A. Snashall took his departure Monday morning to attend the funeral of Mr. G. H. Stanton which was held in Janesville and from hence to Milwaukee, where he attends lectures on sanitary science and the art of embalming.

October 7, 1902, p. 3, col. 3, The Tribune, Evansville, Wisconsin

At a very important meeting of the trustees of the Baptist Wednesday night, plans were accepted for the new church building, and Caleb Snashall was elected as superintendent of construction. A committee is working on a special farewell program for Sunday evening, April 19, which will be the last service in the old church.

April 9, 1903, Evansville Review, Evansville, Wisconsin

A. A. Snashall, of the firm of Snashall & Boyd, is in Milwaukee attending the Wisconsin State Funeral Directors Ass'n of which he is a member.

September 8, 1903, p. 3, col. 2, The Tribune, Evansville, Wisconsin

Snashall & Boyd. Carpets sold also licensed undertakers and embalmers. Ad. October 30, 1903, The Enterprise

Caleb Snashall Stricken with Paralysis.

The sudden prostration of Caleb Snashall, Sunday afternoon came as a shock to his many friends. He was out sweeping off the sidewalk when a stroke of paralysis took him, and a passer by seeing him lying on the walk, assisted him to the house where medical assistance was quickly procured.

Drs. Colony of this place and Jackson of Madison, were called in, but no relief can be given him.

Since Monday he has remained unconscious and very little hopes of recovery.

February 11, 1904, Evansville Review, Evansville, Wisconsin

Caleb Snashall died at his home in this city, Thursday, Feb. 11, aged 64.

In the death of Mr. Snashall, Evansville loses another one of her highly respected citizens and no higher tribute can be paid to his memory than that he was a type of citizen we needed. He was a clean man, who did not preach without practicing.

It was only a few short days ago that he was busy in superintending the completion of the Baptist church, of which he was the architect, and in which he had taken a great deal of pride in making of it a model house of worship. No one realized that the grim scepter was hovering around and would soon seek him.

He was engaged in sweeping the sidewalk, after a snow storm, when a paralytic stroke touched him and from that he lingered four days, mostly unconscious during that time.

The funeral was held at the home, Sunday afternoon and interment made in the cemetery here.

In 1864, Mr. Snashall came to Evansville and in partnership with Mr. Adams operated a hardware store, after a few years the senior selling out to Mr. Mygatt, when the firm name became Snashall and Mygatt and during the continuence of the firm a very profitable business was secured.

Retiring from active mercantile life several years ago, Mr. Snashall devoted his time to his other interests, both here and in Chicago and was always busy.

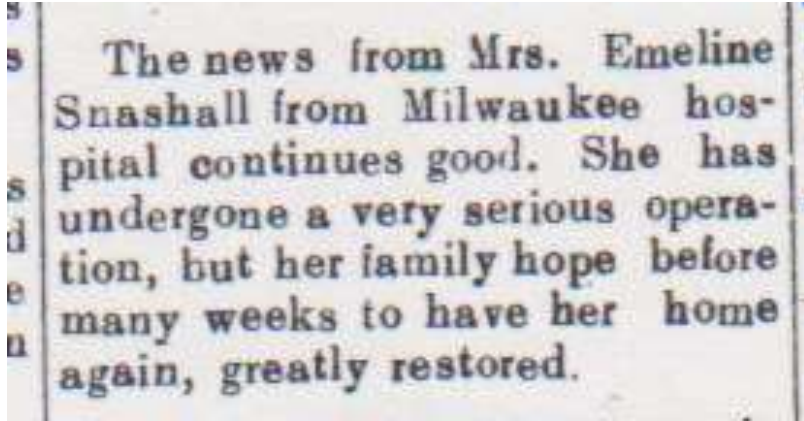

In 1866 he was united in marriage to Miss Emmeline Adams, and to this union three children were born, Arthur A., of the firm of Snashall & Boyd, Dr. Bert, of Delevan, and Dr. C. H., of this city, all of whom still survive him. Besides he has a brother A. J. Snashall and one sister, Mrs. J. F. Phifer, who are residents of this city.

February 18, 1904, Evansville Review, p. 1, Evansville, Wisconsin

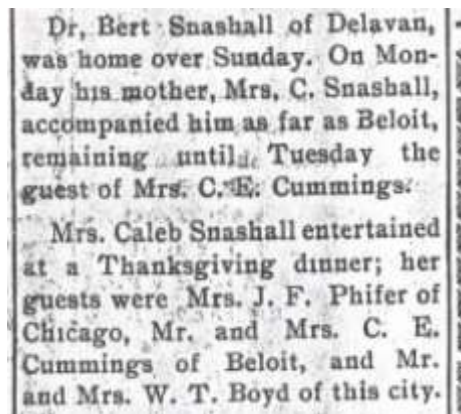

Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Evans, Mrs. C. Snashall, Hallie Ames, Bert Dann and Harvey Sykes have been at St. Louis the past week.

November 26, 1904, The Badger, p.1 , col. 3, Evansville, Wisconsin

The news from Mrs. Emeline Snashall from Milwaukee hospital continues good. She has undergone a very serious operation, but her family hope before many weeks to have her home again, greatly restored.

June 24, 1905, the Badger, p. 1, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

Dr. Bert Snashall of Delavan, was home over Sunday. On Monday his mother, Mrs. C. Snashall, accompanied him as far as Beloit, remaining until Tuesday the guest of Mrs. C. E. Cummings.

Mrs. Caleb Snashall entertained at a Thanksgiving dinner; her guests were Mrs. J. F. Phifer of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Cummings of Beloit, and Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Boyd of this city.

November 25, 1905, The Badger, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mrs. Catherine Snashall has leased the Wm. Libby house on First Street and will take a few boarders to care for.

October 25, 1906, The Evansville Review, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mrs. Wm. Libby has rented her residence on North First Street to Mrs. Catherine Snashall, and will reside with her son Elmer Libby and family this winter.

October 26, 1906, Enterprise, p. 3, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

Remembered Reception

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Axtell, on Church street, the members of the Camping club with a few invited friends, met Saturday evening, for the purpose of giving a reception to Art Snashall, who was on a visit here for a few days.

Twenty-five people were present, all warm friends of Mr. Snashall, and the honors of the occasion were showered upon this gentleman in abundance. The evening was spent in amusements of various nature interspersed with refreshments.

Mr. Snashall left on the midnight train that evening for his new home in Sioux Falls, S. Dak., taking with him a bright memory of how his many Evansville friends appreciate his friendship and his sterling worth of character. May his future lines be cast in pleasant places, and may happiness follow him was the universal expression of thought from all.

At a meeting of the South Dakota Funeral Directors' association which was held at Mitchell, S. D., recently, A. A. Snashall of Sioux Falls, was elected as president of the association for the coming year. Mr. Snashall is well known to Evansville people, and all extend congratulations.

May 9, 1907, p. 5, Evansville Review, Evansville, Wisconsin

DENTISTS	S.
DR. C. H. SNASHALL	ha
DENTIST. Office in Snashall and Mygatt Block, over Grange clothing store, north side of Main street.	in
	Al
	J.

January 6, 1909, The Enterprise & The Tribune, p. 1, col. 1, Evansville, Wisconsin

The Baptist Ladies' Mission society will meet Thursday afternoon at 3 with Mrs. Albert Snashall, on Park Street.

February 10, 1909, Enterprise/Tribune, Evansville, Wisconsin

Dr. C. H. Snashall

DR. C. H. SNASHALL

Dr. C. H. Snashall was born and reared in Evansville and has resided here all his life, receiving his education at the Evansville high school and the Chicago College of Dental Surgery, from which he was graduated in the year 1896. He commenced practice in Evansville immediately thereafter, and though a young man, is the senior dentist of the city. His offices in the Snashall and Mygatt block consist of a handsome suite of rooms thoroughly equipped with modern appliances. Dr. Snashall is a member of the Southern Wisconsin Dental Association, and is a prominent member of the Masonic fraternity. Having always resided in the city of Evansville, Dr. Snashall takes more than a common interest in the city of his birth and has always done his full share in helping to promote the city's welfare.

Illustrated Prospectus of Evansville, published by the Evansville Review, 1910

Albert Snashall and John Christman spent Wednesday in Edgerton where they demonstrated Baker Mfg. Engines at the Irish picnic there.

August 6, 1914, Evansville Review, p. 5, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mrs. Caleb Snashall spent last week at the home of her son, Dr. Bert Snashall at Delavan, and visited friends at Beloit on her return. Mrs. Phifer of La Grange, Ill., who has been visiting here accompanied her to Delavan.

August 6, 1914, Evansville Review, p. 5 col. 3, Evansville, Wisconsin

Arthur Snashall of Long Beach, Cal., arrived Monday night for a visit with his mother, Mrs. Caleb Snashall.

August 13, 1914, Evansville Review, p. 5, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

Arthur Snashall left Sunday for his home at Los Angeles, Cal., after a visit with relatives and friends here.

August 27, 1914, Evansville Review, p. 5, col. 1, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mrs. Katherine Snashall came up from Janesville Saturday for a few days visit at the home of Mrs. R. D. Hartley. Mrs. Katherine Snashall and daughter of Janesville have been recent visitors in town.

August 27, 1914, Evansville Review, p. 5, col. 1 & 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Snashall entertained at a family dinner Thanksgiving, about fifteen persons being present.

December 2, 1915, p. 5, col. 2, Evansville Review, Evansville, Wisconsin

OBITUARY

Mrs. Emeline Adams was born in Ludlow, Vermont, January 23, 1842. She came West with her parents in 1856, and located in Union, where she made her home for many years before moving to Evansville. She married Mr. Caleb Snashall in November, 1866. He was a prominent hardware dealer and died in 1904.

Mrs. Snashall like her husband, was a prominent member of the Baptist Church. As long as the present edifice stands it will be part memorial to these devout persons whose work abides.

Mrs. Snashall was a charter member of the Literary and Afternoon Clubs of this city. She was the mother of three sons--Dr. Claude Snashall, of our city; Dr. Bert, of Delavan, and Arthur, of Long Beach, California. Besides these, two sister survive her, Mrs. Mary Lockwood, of Ludlow, Vermont, and Mrs. Ellen Bingham, of

Sioux City, Iowa.

Mrs. Snashall was a faithful wife, a loving mother, a consistent Christian, a friend of a wide circle of acquaintances. It might be said of her "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord. She rests from her labors, but her works do follow her."

The funeral service was held at the home Wednesday afternoon at 2:30, Dr. William P. Pearce, her pastor, officiating. The remains were placed beside those of her husband in Evansville cemetery.

November 29, 1917, Evansville Review, p. 1, col. 2, Evansville, Wisconsin

NOTICE OF HEARING

STATE OF WISCONSIN, County Court for Rock County. In Probate.

Notice is hereby given that at a regular term of the County Court to be held in and for said County at the Court House, in the City of Janesville in said County on the first Tuesday, being the first day of January, 1918, at 9 o'clock a. m., the following matter will be heard and considered:

The application of Claude H. Snashall to admit to Probate the Last Will and Testament of Emeline J. Snashall, late of the City of Evansville, in said County, deceased.

Dated December 3, 1917.

By the Court:
Charles L. Fifield,
County Judge.

Fred L. Janes, Attorney. 12-6-3t

December 6, 1917, Evansville Review, Evansville, Wisconsin

January 1920, 1920 Federal Census, Albert and Eva Snashall at 43 Second Street, Evansville, Wisconsin

1920 United States Federal Census

Name: Albert J Snachall
[Albert J Snashall]
 Home in 1920: Union, Rock, Wisconsin
 Age: 74 years
 Estimated birth year: abt 1846
 [abt 1848]
 Birthplace: England
 Relation to Head of House: Head
 Spouse's name: Eva F
 Father's Birth Place: England
 Mother's Birth Place: England
 Marital Status: Married
 Race: White
 Sex: Male
 Home owned: Own
 Year of Immigration: 1852
 Able to read: Yes
 Able to Write: Yes
 Image: 20

Neighbors:

Household Members:	Name	Age
	Albert J Snachall	74 [72]
	Eva F Snachall	69

Dr. Claude Snashall, who has been spending the winter in the sunny climes of California has returned home to spend the summer with old friends and acquaintances.

April 15, 1920, Evansville Review, p. 5, col. 1, Evansville, Wisconsin

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Snashall and Mrs. Clara Baker left Tuesday morning for California, where they will spend the winter. They plan to located at Long Beach, but will visit Los Angeles, San Diego and other cities also.

October 7, 1920, Evansville Review, Evansville, Wisconsin

OBITUARY

Eva E. Sherman, daughter of Aaron and Marion Stevens Sherman was born Jan. 20, 1850 and died May 8, 1922.

She is survived by her husband, Mr. A. J. Shashall, one daughter, Mrs. Fred Janes and a sister, Mrs. S. J. Baker. Mrs. Snashall has been in failing health for two years, and confined to her home since the new year, and has been a patient sufferer through it all. A kind devoted wife and mother, she will be sadly missed from the home circle and by a host of acquaintances who were glad to call her friend. She was deeply interested in civic and welfare work and was a charter member of the Woman's Literary Club and also of the Afternoon Club, in both of which she was a loyal, faithful worker and her demise will be deplored by those organizations.

Mrs. Snashall was a woman of great patriotism and as one of the war workers of this city, proved herself of inestimable value, both in knowledge and industry, ever in her place seeking to serve the boys and the country she loved so well.

The funeral took place from the home Wednesday afternoon, services being in charge of the Rev. A. W. Stephens, of the Baptist church, the interment being in Maple Hill Cemetery, where for many years to come the Boys of The American Legion will do honor on Memorial Day to the grave of her, who loved them and served them to the fullness of her strength.

A dog and a woman will put up with abuse for a long time, fondly cherishing in memory the carasses of bygone days.

May 11, 1922, Evansville Review, p. 4, col. 1-2, Evansville, Wisconsin

BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATED IN CALIF.

Long Beach, Calif., Dec. 5.—Arthur A. Snashall and Dr. C. H. Snashall gave a 6 o'clock stag dinner at their home on Signal Hill, Oil Center, in honor of their uncle, A. J. Snashall, who is spending the winter at their home in southern California. The occasion being his seventy-fifth birthday anniversary. Covers were laid for the following: S. J. Miller, Charles Miller, Arthur Devine, Theodore Scheirum. Carl Dillingham, G. H. Jones, J. B. Newberger, Arthur Snashall, Dr. C. H. Snashall and the honor guest, A. J. Snashall.

The evening was pleasantly spent in reminiscence of by-gone days spent in Evansville, Wis., the old home town.

December 14, 1922, Evansville Review, p. 1, col. 4, Evansville, Wisconsin

nts.
the
ing
sup-

C. S. SNASHALL IN AUTOMOBILE WRECK

The following clipping from a Long Beach, California paper. come to us this week for publication:

EN "Becoming unmanageable as he drove along Atlantic avenue early this afternoon, an automobile owned by C. S. Snashall, R. F. D. No. 3, Box 211, rolled across the curbing, crashed into a store building at 2195 Atlantic avenue, owned by George Le Paige, and then caromed off against another auto owned by Claude Johnston, 1020 East Second street. The damage to Snashall's machine was extensive according to the report of Dectective E. F. Dilts and Officer George F. Panners, who witnessed the accident. Snashall was unhurt.

May 15, 1924, Evansville Review, p. 1, Evansville, Wisconsin

Albert J. Snashall was born in England December, 5th 1847, and died in Evansville July 26th 1926. When one year old he came with his parents to this country first living in Newburg, New York. At the age of eight years his parents came to Western New York living at Sherman near Chautauqua Lake. Here he grew to young manhood until the fall of 1867 when he came to Evansville to work for his brother, Caleb Snashall who had just then started in the hardware business. With the exception of about six years spent in Chicago, Mr. Snashall has made Evansville his home for nearly sixty years.

For many years he was a builder and contractor and was afterward pattern maker, for many years at the Baker Manufacturing plant.

September 5th 1869 he was united in marriage to Eva E. Sherman. Mrs. Snashall died May 8th 1922.

For the past three winters Mr. Snashall has made visits to his two nephews, Claude and Arthur Snashall who are now living at Long Beach, California.

Funeral was held from the home of his daughter, Mrs. Fred L. Janes, Wednesday afternoon and burial was in Maple Hill Cemetery.

In the passing of Albert Snashall there will go from the streets of Evansville a familiar figure of a man whom all had got to know from his many years of residence here and many loved for his quiet, kindly unassuming ways.

Mr. Snashall was a man who loved his fellow man and had faith in all humanity. He believed in the Golden Rule and practiced it always. He believed in good citizenship--and was a citizen who believed in his country and had confidence in her future. As a citizen he will be missed by the community and as a friend he will be missed by many.

July 29, 1926, p. 4, col. 5 & 6, Evansville Review, Evansville, Wisconsin

FORMER LOCAL MAN DIES IN DELAVAN

SEN.
TO

Dr. Bert L. Snashall Succumbs
Monday After Long Illness; Buried Here Wednesday

Dr. Bert L. Snashall, 58, prominent dentist and former Evansville resident, died Monday morning at his home in Delavan following a long period of ill health. Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Wednesday in the Delavan Baptist church, the Rev. J. R. Estes officiating. Burial was made here in Maple Hill cemetery with Masonic rites at the grave in charge of the Delavan lodge.

Dr. Snashall, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Caleb Snashall, was born and grew to young manhood in Evansville. He attended the University of Wisconsin for three years and after being graduated from the Chicago College of Dental Surgery 35 years ago, located in Delavan where he has been practicing continuously.

He was prominent in Masonic circles and was a member of the Delavan city council at the time of his death. Besides his wife, he is survived by one daughter, Ruth.

Sena
gerton,
who w ing hi ansvill didate distic to be

September 10, 1931, Evansville Review, p. 1, Evansville,

Wisconsin

the ow ailrp-is
:co
of

SNASHALL ESTATE SETTLEMENT RECORDS ARE LOST IN QUAKE

The following story regarding the Snashall family, who are well known in Evansville, was published last week in the Delavan Enterprise, and will doubtless interest many Evansville people. It reads as follows:

Estate Papers Lost

Mrs. B. L. Snashall received a letter by air mail from her sister-in-law following the California earthquake saying important papers in estate matters had been destroyed in a bank building which was destroyed. The letter was written in an automobile during later shakes by the widow of Arthur A. Snashall, who said she felt safer in the car than in her home at Long Beach.

The settlement of the estate of Dr. C. M. Snashall of Evansville, Wis., is somewhat complicated. He was unmarried and died at the home of his brother Arthur at Long Beach, who besides Dr. B. L. Snashall of Delavan, were heirs. Then in two months Arthur died, and a year later Dr. B. L. Snashall passed away.

The estate comprises considerable property, including apartment hous-

March 23, 1933, Evansville Review Evansville, Wisconsin

Katharine Snashall Succumbs Friday

Evansville Native Is Last of Devereaux Family; All Five Brothers Were Dentists

Mrs. Katherine Snashall, 79, of Janesville and a former Evansville resident, died at 7 p.m. Friday in a Janesville nursing home. In failing health for several months, she fractured her left shoulder in a fall three weeks ago.

The former Katherine Devereaux, daughter of Edward and Laura Whaley Devereaux, was born in Union township Dec. 21, 1873. She was married to Arthur Adams Snashall, Evansville, in Union township June 3, 1897.

Mrs. Snashall was the last of the Devereaux family which comprised her five brothers, all of whom were dentists, and one sister, Mrs. Lulu Dixon.

A member of First Congregational church, she was affiliated with Congregational Guild and Division 5, and also with Eastern Star Study class and Rock County Historical society.

Surviving is one daughter, Mrs. Garbrand Jacobs, Glendale, Calif.

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Tuesday in Janesville, the Rev. H. C. Kimmel of the First Congregational church there, officiating. Burial was on the family lot in Maple Hill cemetery, Evansville.

Mrs. Snashall Rites

EVANSVILLE—Funeral services for Mrs. Katherine Snashali, 79, last surviving member of a pioneer Evansville family, who died Saturday at a Janesville nursing home, will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the Reining funeral home, Janesville.

Burial will be in Maple Hill cemetery, Evansville.

The former Katherine Devereaux was born in Union township and married Arthur Snashall, Evansville, June 3, 1897, in Union township. She was a member of the Janesville First Congregational church and church auxiliaries, and the Rock County Historical Society.

Surviving is a daughter, Mrs. Garbrand Jacobs, Lindale, Calif.